

The Daily Union Vedette.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 4, 1854.

Movement of Troops—Change of the Guard.

For the past ten days active preparations have been going on, in view of the contemplated expedition against the Indians, who have so long and so disastrously been preying on the mail route east of Denver. The five companies of the 2nd Cav., C. V., heretofore stationed at Camp Douglas, have been consolidated into two full companies, viz: Co. L, under Capt. Albert Brown, and Co. M, under Capt. Geo. F. Price. These two companies now present a splendid appearance—the ranks are filled with Veterans, most perfectly equipped, as well for a long and arduous trip eastward as for an active campaign against the red skins. Capts. Brown and Price are assisted in command by Lieuts. Denny and Conrad.

The recent severe snow storm, we learn, has extended all along the proposed route hence beyond Denver. It is not, however, believed that the storms have continued sufficiently long to render the road impassable to the troops, and we need hardly say that unless the obstacles are in truth insuperable, these two companies of gallant Californians will ere long be parading down the Platte. Everything so nearly approaching readiness for the march, it is expected that the troops will move from Camp Douglas to-morrow.

This movement has of course necessitated the withdrawal of the detachment of Co. L, heretofore acting as Provost Guard in Salt Lake City. On Wednesday they were replaced by a detachment of Co. C, 1st Nev. Cavalry, under the command of 1st Lt. Firman.

We do not overstate the fact when we add that the departure of Co. L from the city, excites universal regret from all classes of citizens. During their stay, their soldierly bearing, universal good conduct, upright deportment and attention to the delicate duties imposed upon them, won the admiration of all good citizens, and extorted words of commendation from those who at first viewed their presence with alarm and distrust.

The wisdom of the course pursued in establishing the Guard has proved itself to the satisfaction of all. It is greatly to be hoped, as it is most confidently believed, that the command of Lt. Firman will retain intact the good reputation which Co. L has left behind.

JUSTICE TO THE VIRGINIA CITY MERCHANTS.—We hasten to correct the misapprehension under which we labored yesterday, relative to the stealing of some gold dust, left "on deposit with a Virginia merchant," as stated yesterday in our article under the heading "Now you see it, and now you don't."

We have had an interview with Mr. W. C. Lippie, late of Virginia, and the unfortunate loser of the dust. He informs us that he left in his own store several small sacks of clean gold dust, some belonging to himself, some to other parties. Having occasion to go out for a short time, he did so, carefully locking his store door. On returning, he examined his sacks of gold and found them all right—apparently. Nor did he open them until his arrival in Salt Lake City, when to his surprise, as stated by us yesterday, he discovered that one sack originally containing 28 ounces of clean gold belonging to himself, had been opened and filled with shot, gravel and earth. What is the most remarkable part of the affair is, that only one of the sacks was at all tampered with. Mr. S. is entirely unable to account for the theft, but desires us to say that no merchant of Virginia could have had anything to do with it. We told the story as we heard it—and take pleasure in making the correction.

CONTEMPLATED EVACUATION OF FORT CHURCHILL.—We see from our California exchanges that Gen. McDowell, Department Commander, has directed the evacuation of Fort Churchill, N. T. It is proposed to remove the troops and Government property to the mouth of King's Cañon, about a mile west of Carson city, where a new military post will be established. The site of Fort Churchill was never an eligible one, and the necessity which impelled its selection as a military depot, has long since passed away.

The new point said to be selected will be far more agreeable, and in many senses more useful to Government.

TESTIMONIAL TO COL. POLLOCK, 3d INF. Y. C. V.—The friends of Col. Robt. Pollock will be pleased to learn that he is about to be the recipient of a handsome testimonial in the shape of a magnificent sword. We extract the following from a late number of the S. F. Morning Call:

"Barrett & Sherwood forwarded yesterday by express a splendid Colonel's regulation sword to order of the non-commissioned officers and privates of the Third Infantry Regiment, C. V., stationed at Camp Douglas, Salt Lake City, who purpose presenting it to Col. Robt. Pollock, when the Regiment is mustered out of service next Monday. The sword is an elegant weapon; its Damascus blade etched in gold, its handle of the Goddess of Liberty pattern, in solid silver and gold, the guard thickly set with garnets. The scabbard has this inscription: 'Presented to their Colonel, Robert Pollock, by the Enlisted Men of the Third Infantry, C. V.' The subscription for the sword was limited to the enlisted men of the regiment, and amounted to five hundred and nine dollars."

[SPECIAL TO THE UNION DAILY VEDETTE.]

Union troops whip the Texan Rangers at Camden.

Cairo, Nov. 2d.

A detachment of the 4th Missouri and some Kansas militia, to the number of 500, encountered a considerable force of Texan Rangers at Camden, Arkansas, a few days ago, and after a severe fight of an hour's duration the rebels retreated, leaving their camp equipage, a number of horses and small arms, besides their killed and wounded. Our loss was 15. The enemy's killed were 25. The wounded and prisoners are not reported.

Governor Seymour's Proclamation for Sheriffs to use every power to preserve peace at the Election.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 2d.

Governor Seymour issued a Proclamation in regard to the coming election in which he says the sheriffs of counties, and all other officers whose duty it is to keep peace and protect our citizens, will take care that every voter shall have a free ballot in the manner secured to him by the Constitution and Laws. It will be their duty to see that no military or other organized force, shall be allowed to show themselves in the vicinity where the elections are held. Should there be, with any view to menacing or intimidating the citizen in attendance, against any such interference they must exercise the full force of the law, and call forth if need be, the power of their districts.

True Democrats of New York are resolved to stand by the Union and prosecute the War.

New York, Nov. 3d.

At the Democratic Convention yesterday, the following Preamble and Resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, A crisis has arisen in the history of our country threatening national life; and persons under the name and pretense of a Democratic character, are misled by delusions of party, or are acting from treasonable motives and are aiding the rebels; and as all true Democrats are required by loyalty to the Government which their fathers founded, and to express openly by some general authoritative enunciation, their devotion to the cause of the country. Therefore, it is

Resolved, That we Democrats will sustain as we accepted with entire unanimity, the gage of battle when forced upon us by the rebels at Sumter; that we will boldly carry it through in spite of reverses, until victory shall crown our exertions and peace is founded and the Union be restored.

Resolved, That although on the commencement inexperience may have led us to error and mistake, we believe the war at the present time is pressed with commendable energy and remarkable success.

Resolved, That we do not admit the war to have been in any respect a failure; and point to the fact that the greater portion of the rebellious States have been recovered, and all but a few vessels of the rebel Navy have been destroyed.

Resolved, That it is neither a good policy nor compatible with the dignity of our Government, to request a cessation of hostilities, nor offer terms of settlement until the rebels express a desire—which they have hitherto invariably and in most insulting language disclaimed—to return into the Union; but if such a desire be properly expressed with guarantees of good faith, the greatest liberality should be tendered to them.

Resolved, That while we admit occasional acts of weakness in the Administration, we accept the consequence of supporting and strengthening it without regard to party affinities of the present incumbent; that believing war defense and our laws to be eminently just, we see no reason for suspending it until the objects have been accomplished; that as no nation ever has been able to endure such a conflict as disturbs our country without a financial pressure, we recognize and submit to the necessity of being convinced that our resources are boundless, and the domain of the restored Union is amply sufficient to meet all our liabilities. We therefore urge upon Democrats to sustain the Government as it exists; and support at the coming election the candidates who express their views.

General News.

New York, Nov. 3d.

A Hampton Roads correspondent gives the following account of the destruction of the Albemarle: Along the dock where the Albemarle was moored were a large number of soldiers, evidently stationed there as a guard against a surprise of the landing of a force. In front of their lines blazed a number of camp fires, lighting up the rebel vessel in the river, and by the aid of this, Lieut. Cushing discovered a piece of floating timber which surrounded the ram on the accessible sides to guard against the approach of rams and torpedoes; and by the aid of the same light he plainly saw a large body of soldiers thronging the road to the wharf blazing away at his boat. To quiet these fellows he brought the bow of his boat around a little and discharged a heavy load of cannister into them from his 12-pounder howitzer mounted at the bow, and making a complete circle under a scorching musketry fire, at less than thirty yards, he came around bow on at full steam and struck the floating guard of timbers, pressing them in towards the hull of the ram. The boat soon lost headway and came to a stand still, refusing to back off or move ahead. Then the moment of decisive action arrived. The enemy fired muskets and pistols almost in his face from the ports of the ram, and from a hundred small arms on the shore. Several of his men were wounded. The case looked desperate, but Lieut. Cushing, cool and determined, seized the lanyard to the torpedo and the line of spars, and crowding the spars until he brought the torpedo under the over hang of the Albemarle, he detached it, and then pulled the lanyard of the torpedo which exploded it directly under the vessel on the port side, just below the port hole of the 200 pounder Brook's rifle, which, at the same moment discharged at the boat. An immense volume of water was thrown out by the explosion of the torpedo, almost drowning the boat. To add to the peril of the moment, a heavy shell from the enemy's gun went crushing through the bottom of the boat, knocking splinters about in a terrible style, and she at once began to sink. Cushing ordered all hands to save themselves as best they could. He divested himself of coat and shoes and plunged into the river, followed by those of his men who were able to do so. All struck for the middle of the river under a hot fire of musketry, the balls striking all about them, and in two or three instances it is feared so badly wounding the swimmers, that they sunk before boats from shore could reach them. Cushing heard the rebels take their boats and push after the survivors demanding their surrender, and many gave up. Two of his seamen were drowned near by him, whether owing to wounds received or exhaustion, he could not state. How many fell into rebel hands is not ascertained. Cushing swam down the river half a mile until he was exhausted, but reached the shore about daylight and crawled through a swamp until he reached a position within speaking distance of the enemy's fort. While lying there, rebel officers walked by, and from their conversation he learned that the ram was destroyed. After a while deeming his situation unsafe, he managed to push himself along until he got a better position. Before midnight he secured the services of a negro to go back and look after the Albemarle. The negro returned and reported her as sunk. Cushing then traveled the swamp in his stock feet until he reached a point six miles below town, when he took a boat and with a paddle put off for the squadron twelve miles distant, reaching it in safety. Cushing's report says the distance from the mouth of the river to the ram was eight miles. His launch succeeded in passing the pickets stationed along the river, and was not halted till by the lookouts on the ram.

Cairo, Nov. 2d.

Information is just received of the capture by the rebels, at Fort Hicman, of the gunboat Undena; but no particulars. Two transports are also reported captured. It is reported the rebels are near Mayfield, advancing on Paducah.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 2d.

The official vote in 41 counties is received. The following are the aggregate results, including soldiers' vote: Union, 190,737; Democratic, 176,658.

Washington, Nov. 2d.

A party of guerrillas, on Monday night, attacked a company of colored troops near Ocatonk, but were routed.

Buffalo, Nov. 2nd.

The following dispatch was received this p. m., by the Mayor of the city:

Washington 2d.—This department has received information from the British Provinces to the effect that there is a conspiracy on foot to set fire to the principal cities in the Northern States on the day of the Presidential election.

Signed: SEWARD.

Castina, Me., Nov. 2d.

On Monday night an attack was made on the battery at this place, at midnight. A small party of men approached from the rear, and when challenged they fired upon the sentinel, who returned their fire. The garrison mustered promptly, and pursued the raiders half a mile. Several shots were exchanged, when they escaped in a boat. The supposed object is to capture the U.S. cutter lying in the harbor.

New York, Nov. 2d.

Per steamer Eagle we have Havana dates to the 29th, City of Mexico to the 15th, and Vera Cruz to the 23d. The reported occupation of Matamoros by Melita and the adhesion to that Empire by Cortinas is confirmed. A severe earthquake occurred on the 3rd, destroying the church and the ecclesiastical court-room at Saxaula and damaging other buildings. There were but few deaths. Damages were also sustained at San Nicholas, Kubaga and other places. A water spout fell on the city of Montalto, flooding the streets and surrounding country, and doing much damage. Estofe says some forty persons have been arrested in the City of Mexico, as conspirators. It is said Alvarez, of the State of Guerrero, is about to submit to Maximilian. Also, Juarez had crossed the Desert of San Carlos into Chihuahua, and reports the plate Semmes as arrived at Havana in an English packet.

The Post's special says slaves were set free yesterday in Baltimore, in pursuance of the order of the court under the new constitution of Maine.

Dr. Ross, a clergyman in S. C., says the entire State of N. C., as well as Ga., is alive with rebel deserters, who in most cases are armed and organized, and are abundantly able to protect themselves. In the western part of the State they reign supreme. They make repeated raids on wealthy planters and rebel depots for supplies and give protection to runaway slaves, who are also armed. The authorities have given up all hopes of forcing them back into the ranks, and have been repulsed in all their efforts to this end. Jeff. Davis said when in Raleigh, that deserters of the Confederate army will outnumber the Confederate soldiers in the field. An extensive conspiracy, recently brought to light in Raleigh, implicates many prominent officers of the Conservative party, who now openly threaten to head these deserters and their friends, and take possession of the State government of N. C., and all railroads, in the event that Gov. Vance fails to institute at once a separate state of action for peace with Lincoln. The Dr. says it is now apparent to the rebel authorities that Grant has been affording facilities to Lee to receive reinforcements, when Grant, by a sudden spring, has a trap that will close up the last gap and oblige Lee to capitulate. This Gov. Vance says, is Grant's plan, which has given Jeff. Davis much concern, who is in favor of evacuating Va., having respectively informed Lee to do so and not incur the risk of the capitulation of his army.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 2.

The schooner Goodspeed, of Boston, via Newport for Phila., was boarded by the Tallahassee, seven miles south of Black Island, and scuttled. The Capt. and crew escaped to Black Island in a boat. The Capt. reports that the Tallahassee scuttled another vessel within a short distance. The crew of the privateer said they had the crews of four other vessels, which they had destroyed within a few days. The gunboat Marblehead left in pursuit this evening.

The Wilmington Journal says an attack is shortly expected from the Yankee fleet. The authorities desire the removal of all non-combatants before hostilities begin. It reports that 60 sailed at Buford and many more at Monroe. The Charleston Mercury says the rebel column is to assault Atlanta while Sherman is engaged in following Hood.

Local Matters.

We refer our readers to the speech of Hon. D. S. Dickinson, of Binghamton, N. Y., to his fellow citizens of that place. At the breaking out of the infernal and accursed rebellion, for the crushing of which so many of our brave soldiers are shouldering arms, and for the subjugation of which graves have received the remains of thousands of loyal and valorous men, this honorable gentleman—this eminent statesman—this thoroughly self made man, and this true, sincere and loyal of America's sons, threw off all partyism, shook off all fanaticism and denounced all association with the minions of Jeff. Davis, viz: the Woods, Vallandigham, Seymour, Pendleton, & Co.—raised at his flag staff the Stars and Stripes, remained with them and now rears aloft over the decks of the shaky craft of McClellan and Pendleton, the honored names of Lincoln and Johnson. His speech is a bitter pill for the Cops. It is a meritorious production, speaking the heart of the man who delivered it, and will be read with interest again and again by every loyal man in the Union.

We were made to know yesterday that which we never knew before—and to know what we knew on that occasion is now known that we will not be known to know of a like transaction in future—not if "we know ourselves"—and we do know that much; and what we know to be known to us, is now known to be known by all who do know that it is known; and to make those know who don't know, we wish it to be known—that we will never be known to know—that $32 00 is known to be the known price of a cord of wood, which we know was known to be bought by us; and we know that we further know that we paid the known money of Uncle Sam's—which we know is the known currency hereabouts—where we are all known to be known—but, no more wood at that known price.

The installation of the officers of Garrison Lodge, No. 65, I. O. G. T., for the ensuing Quarter, took place in their Hall on Tuesday evening, November 1st, 1894, when the officers were installed as follows:

E. H. Gatewood, W. C. T.; James Fitzgerald, W. V. T.; Dayton Field, W. S.; John W. Wingate, W. T.; G. W. Doe, W. F. S.; R. Murray, W. M.; F. Megeerle, W. D. M.; D. Holland, W. I. G.; F. Medina, W. O. G.; J. Forehand, W. C. pro tem; E. N. Milford, W. R. H. S.; J. H. Allsaver, W. L. H. S.; 1st Lieut. and Adjutant S. E. W. Becker, P. W. C. T.

ONWARD WE PROGRESS.—In the city is at last established that which the transient and resident citizen have for a long time required and wished—a good Livery Stable. Messrs. Morehouse & Wall are located next door to the National Hotel, where the "fast man" can have a "nifty turn-out"—the man who is a lover of exercise can secure the best saddle-horse—and the community at large can procure conveyances to suit their convenience.

The morning, noon and evening prayer of the copperheads is about as follows: Our father Jeff, who art in Richmond, if you have any respect for us or sympathy for McClellan, don't let Grant whip you till after the election. Help us, Jeff, or we sink!—Er.

And by the way of suggestion, we would add, as a sure accomplishment of all their "asks"—place the "fighting Hood" at the head of their victorious (?) horde.

The Mansion House has again changed hands. The fortunate Landlords who now occupy it (for no one can rent this house and not do a good business) are Messrs. Halle and McGovern, and they pledge themselves not to be outdone by any other Hotel in the country. They have also rented the splendid adobe Stable on the premises, where the faithful horse will be well nursed.

A Yankee doctor has contrived to extract from sausages a powerful tonic, which he says contains the whole strength of the "bark." He calls it "sulphate of canine."

The Richmond Enquirer, in a lengthy review of the Democratic party and talk about peace at the north, says civil war at the north is the only ally upon whose assistance the rebels can base any reliable hope for the future, and concludes as follows:

"The peace that is to give us independence for the present, and security for the future, must, we repeat it, be dictated at the point of the sword and amid the roar of cannon. The snake must not be scotched only, but killed; neither policy at home nor persuasion from abroad, but fear—trembling, cowering fear—is the only argument that will lead the Yankee to a durable peace. When his troops are defeated, his strong places taken, his fields invaded and his houses burnt, then may our victorious troops march us, with firm tread and flying banner into the family of great nations; then only will peace, with healing on his wings, return to our land and dwell once more in our midst, shedding rich blessings on town and country.

A SMART TRICK.—An ingenious trick has just been detected in Paris. A man and woman worked it. The man would go into a shop and make a small purchase of a few sous only, for which he paid with a five-franc or ten-franc piece, and received the change. Immediately after his departure his female confederate would enter and also make a small purchase. Then, after looking at other goods for a few minutes, she would politely ask for her change, and when the shopkeeper denied having received any coin from her, she would reply that he must have forgotten, and that if he looked in his till he would find a gold piece with a certain mark on it. On finding such a piece the astonished tradesman, would of course, give the change with many apologies.

HARD STORY.—A Portland (Me.) paper tells the following:

The other night the police picked up a young man who was intoxicated, and placed him in a cell in the lock-up. Soon after, the up-town police brought in an old man, who was quite drunk, and placed him in a cell adjoining that of the young man. The officer in charge went to the cell of the young man, inquired his name and how it was spelt. On his attempting to spell it, the old man in the next cell sung out, "That's a lie!" "Hollo, father!" shouted the young man, "is that you?" It proved to be father and son, though they were brought in from the two extremes of the city.

ANXIOUS FOR THE HONOR.—Recently, on the occasion of Miss Hardinge leaving Auburn for Placerville, the chance of escorting her was put up at auction, the money to go to the Sanitary Fund. The first bid was $5, and the man who got the chance paid $50.

They hung a contractor out in Indiana. He had contracted so much that it was thought advisable to stretch him a little.

To ridicule old age is like pouring cold water in the bed in the morning wherein you may have to sleep at night.

The difference between a carriage wheel and a carriage horse is—one goes best when it is tired and the other don't.
